There's lots of produce to look at in the Ag Building. Here at the farmers market you don't have to just look at it, you can bring it home! We are in the middle of peak produce season, with tomatoes, peppers, onions, zucchini, and all the classics. You can also find unique produce like Thai chilli peppers and squash blossoms. Oh, and clearly we can't forget to mention home grown sweet corn! Wouldn't it be great to be looking at that on your kitchen counter?

Our Own Local Flower Show

We are in peak local flower and Market Flowers has you covered. Local Gladiolus (grown by a blue ribbon winning grower) will be around for the next few weeks. Local Dahlias will be around till we have our first frost (God willing in late October). As will many other great local flowers like Salvia, Strawflower, Marigolds, and more. Since you can't check out the beautiful flowers in the Ag Building, come check our coolers out instead. Then bring home a bunch or two to enjoy at home.

We Got Beer Too

Who doesn't love having a cold barley pop while wandering the Fair? Well, we can't let you wander the farmers market with a beer, but you sure can visit the Unleashed Hounds and Hops Beer Garden back in the Urban Garden. Grab a cold beer, mimosa or bloody. Sorry, no Mini Donut Beer :(The Beer Garden open every Saturday and Sunday from 10am-1pm. Then bring your pup back later in the afternoon and let them run around their indoor or outdoor dog parks while you have another cold one.

- Want some butter and salt drenched sweet corn? - Got it!
- How about hot, sugary, cinnamon mini donuts? - IN!

- Ice cold lemonade? - Heck yea!
- Those cinnamon roasted almonds you get at the Fair? - Those actual nuts, from that actual vendor (Cindy's Cinnamon Roasted Nuts), is right here at the Annex all year long, every year!

There is so much more great eats too; from salmon sandwiches, to wood fired pizza, to fruit slushies, to smoked ribs, to cheesesteak sandwiches, to hibiscus tea, to tasty nachos, to that morning coffee fix.
