

The Fall Harvest is Going Strong

If you are someone who thinks the end of summer means the end of the farmers market, you are sadly mistaken. The market is going strong, and so is the local harvest. All our growers have avoided any frosts we've had so far and their fresh, local produce is still being picked daily.

We've moved into the fall harvest too. Find winter squash, sweet corn, peanuts, lettuce, and herbs. The classic summer veggies are still coming in too, including tomatoes, peppers, potatoes, onions, etc, etc, etc. Now is also the time to do some pickling! Pickling cucumbers, roma tomatoes, everything you'd ever want to preserve you can find here at the market.

Don't forget about getting a fresh made bouquet of flowers for the kitchen table. You will still find those classic, big, beautiful local bouquets are all over the market now till we finally have that first, hard frost.

So mask up, grab an extra bag, and load up on the local harvest while it's still around. And it WILL still be around as long as mother nature is on our side (come on 2020, give us this at least).

Thank you for choosing to be a part of the Farmers Market Annex and supporting small, family businesses!

Open
April 25, 2020
thru
October 25, 2020

Pumpkins are Here

Trick or Treating might be up in the air thanks to our good friend COVID, but that doesn't mean the kids can't still carve a pumpkin or two. Brett Ertz is back with his pumpkins, hay bales, and all the halloween decor you'd want. His crop is looking fantastic this year (good news in 2020 for a change!). He will be at the market every week from now till the end of the season, or when he runs out of pumpkins, whichever come first.

2021 Weddings

We know a lot of weddings were delayed this year. Like A LOT. If you were one of those weddings that got pushed off, or if you are someone newly engaged (go you!), be sure to get your wedding flowers though Market Flowers! You can save a ton of money by going DIY and creating your own wedding bouquets and arrangements. We've had dozens and dozens of weddings, even this year, do just that. Call today to find out more information about how you can get all the eucalyptus, roses, hydrangea, ranunculus or most any flower you want in 2020, 2021 and beyond.

Christmas is Around the Corner

I know, after a beautiful fall week like we've had, the last thing you want to think about is winter. But, you're going to be at home this Christmas, so might as well make home look good!

Here at the Annex we host the Annex Tree Lot every November and December. You will find 2 pavilions full of fresh cut Christmas Trees in a wide range of varieties and sizes. We also make our own patio pots, wreaths, garland and door swags. You won't find better quality Christmas decor in town.

Want to make your own holiday decor? We got you covered there too! From cedar boughs to winterberry to pampas grass to magnolia to dogwood, and so much more, we have all you need to create your own beautiful Christmas arrangements.

So visit the Farmers Market Annex this holiday season. And hope for a warm winter. After everything in 2020, we deserve a break.

Countdown

It's only 30 days till the last day of the farmers market season :-)

It's only 97 days till 2020 is over :-) :-) :-)

Fall Fashions at the Farmers Market

We pride ourselves as a next generation farmers market, and that means not just offering fresh produce and tasty eats. Come find some of the latest fall fashions here at the market. From sporty tops at Jackies, to sweaters at Nadia's, to dresses at Yangdon Collections and much more. Don't forget about all the accessorizing you can do with jewelry, scarfs, hand bags, etc. Look good, when you do get to leave your house, this fall!
